Foreword EHF President

Dear handball friends,

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to the EHF European League Women group phase for the 2022/23 season. The competition is now in its third season and already the qualification phase has shown the quality of the clubs taking part.

Over the upcoming six rounds the 16 teams in the group phase will fight for a place in the quarter-finals, and ultimately a spot in the EHF Finals Women in May. Last season's final weekend in Viborg showcased some top-class handball and winners SG BBM Bietigheim are now demonstrating their quality in the EHF Champions League Women.

That leaves a place open for a new champion. 2021 champions Neptunes de Nantes are back and will face Ikast Håndbold, third last year, in the group phase. They are among teams from seven nations still in the competition, including four Hungarian sides and three from Norway.

In group A, recent EHF Champions League contenders BV Borussia 09 Dortmund from Germany are set to meet Siófok KC – who have had plenty of success at European level in the past – as well as Molde Elite from Norway and ES Besançon Féminin from France.

European League debutantes Fana join Motherson Mosonmagyaróvári KC alongside Nantes and Ikast in group B. In group C, Nykøbing Falster Håndbold will fancy their chances after beating last season's finalists and fellow Danish side Viborg HK in the last qualification round, but they face regular Champions League participants HC Podravka Vegeta, Hungary's DVSC Schaeffler and last season's quarter-finalists Sola HK from Norway.

Group D features an interesting blend of teams from France, Hungary, Romania, and Germany, as Paris 92, Praktiker-Vác, SCM Ramnicu Valcea, and Thüringer HC will battle it out for the coveted quarter-final spots.

I wish everyone associated with each team the very best of luck for the group phase matches. As ever we, together with clubs and our partners, are ensuring that the EHF European League continues to bring drama, excitement and passion until the EHF Finals Women has been played in May 2023, whether you are watching inside arenas or from the comfort of your own home. On behalf of the EHF and EHF Marketing I wish you a season to remember.

Yours in sport,

Michael Wiederer
EHF President
